Management Changes

LiveTiles Limited (ACN 066 139 991) (“LiveTiles” or the “Company”) wishes to advise of senior management changes within the business.

Jarrold Magee has resigned as CFO of LiveTiles, effective today, taking a commercial role as Deputy General Manager APAC for US-based company Afiniti. The current LiveTiles finance team is well structured to support the next stage of growth. A review of key roles in the finance team is being undertaken and the Company will update the market in due course.

Daniel Goss has been promoted to COO of LiveTiles, after spending the last three years as SVP of Operations and Transformation across the group. Daniel Goss has been with the company for just under six years and will continue to support the operations of the global business as it aligns to overall strategy.

To further strengthen the leadership team, the Company recently appointed Martin Trachsel as General Manager of the LiveTiles EMEA business based in Switzerland. Martin heads up the largest region of the LiveTiles business and comes from a strong background of senior executive positions in high growth technology businesses.

His role will focus primarily on driving EMEA pipeline and commercial opportunities, as well as creating new lines of business to support the demands of the fast-growing Employee Experience market.

LiveTiles also recently appointed Daniel Costa as Engineering Team Lead in Portugal. This follows the Company’s announcement in April noting the establishment of a new R&D centre to improve ongoing operating and cost efficiency initiatives.

LiveTiles Chair Dr Marc Stigter stated; “We are very pleased with the recent appointments of key management roles within the business and look forward to supporting them and their teams on our journey. On behalf of the LiveTiles Board of Directors, I would like to thank Jarrold for his significant contribution to LiveTiles. We thank him sincerely for his expertise and commitment and wish him the best for the future.”

Authorised for release by the Board of Directors.
